

Invitation to join the project

Hello!

We invite you to take part in X-History, Join human history: to tell the story of your journey and preserve what matters to you, your loved ones and future generations.

Behind your work are years of effort, important decisions, experience gained and people who stood beside you. Behind your achievements is the story of how it all began and what it took to keep going. These details reveal the person: their character, beliefs and contribution to the lives of others.

A story you can pass on

X-History helps bring your biography, photographs, family memories, achievements and projects together on a personal page. Our long-term goal is to develop an international collection of human stories that reveals an era through individual lives and the people who shape it.

Your story may matter to your family, colleagues, students and people discovering your work. You do not have to be famous to participate: what matters is your experience and what you want to share.

What participation offers you

A fuller introduction to you — your life and professional journey, projects and achievements in one place. A single link is easy to share before a meeting or send to a partner or event organiser.

Preserving family memory — photographs, names, memories and important events gain context. Your loved ones can discover more than dates: the circumstances, decisions and people that shaped your life.

Your story in your own words — you choose the materials to publish and review the completed biography. We help structure the account and agree the text with you before publication.

The opportunity to reach more readers — your biography can be prepared in Russian or English, or in both languages if needed.

Start with what you already have

You do not need to write a book yourself. Tell us about yourself and share photographs, documents and links to your projects. We help turn these materials into a coherent story and prepare it for publication.

Publication terms are available on our website. You can also find presentations and an example of a completed biography there. Explore the project and send an enquiry — we will discuss how best to tell your story.

Visit the X-History website →

Kind regards,
The X-History team